

IMPACT REPORT FISCAL YEAR 2020

With Gratitude to Our Dedicated Community

LETTER FROM THE BOARD CHAIR AND DIRECTOR

Scott C. Mueller

William M. Griswold

Dear Friends,

Despite the many significant challenges that the pandemic posed for our organization and others like it, our staff, trustees, and supporters accomplished a great deal during the fiscal year that began on July 1, 2019, and ended on June 30, 2020. The Cleveland Museum of Art hosted a wide range of successful exhibitions, experienced incredible generosity from its supporters, reached out in new ways during the period when we had no choice but to close temporarily, and made significant strides toward the goals of our strategic and diversity, equity, and inclusion plans.

Altogether, the museum hosted 11 exhibitions, starting with Medieval Monsters: Terrors, Aliens, Wonders and Àmà: The Gathering Place. In fall 2019, we inaugurated Michelangelo: Mind of the Master and a complementary show, Master/Apprentice: Imitation and Inspiration in the Renaissance, in addition to Liu Wei: Invisible Cities. The museum celebrated a major recent gift with Tiffany in Bloom: Stained Glass Lamps of Louis Comfort Tiffany, and a few months later, in early 2020, Signal Noise: Aaron Rothman opened, across town, at Transformer Station. PROOF: Photography in the Era of the Contact Sheet was our spring headliner, and the year concluded with three very different but equally compelling shows: Ilse Bing: Queen of the Leica; Gold Needles: Embroidery Arts from Korea; and A Graphic Revolution: Prints and Drawings in Latin America.

In February, we announced the gift of 59 remarkable contact sheets and three additional works from the collection of Clevelanders Mark Schwartz + Bettina Katz. And in March, we were the recipients of the transformative gift and promised gift of more than 100 superb works from the collection of Clevelanders Joseph P. and Nancy F. Keithley. Their gift, the largest to the museum in over 50 years, will be the subject of a major exhibition in fall 2022.

Plans for the reinstallation of the Paul J. and Edith Ingalls Vignos and Ellen and Bruce Mavec British Galleries pressed on, and they reopened in June. The generosity of Jane and Douglas Kern and of Ann and Richard C. Gridley allowed us to reimagine these important galleries, incorporating beloved masterworks from our permanent collection, loans from other museums, and both new acquisitions and works newly restored, all beautifully displayed in a setting redolent of the type of country house where many of the objects on view formerly had pride of place.

Even with a 15-week closure, on-site attendance reached more than 500,000 visitors. At the same time, staff nimbly reoriented the museum to serve audiences virtually, rather than solely on-site, launching Home Is Where the Art Is with a wonderfully varied selection of online programs. We gradually mastered the online celebration, introduced weekly video series, and implemented new tools to allow users from all over the world to access, study, and enjoy every work in our collection by means of our website.

The past year also brought renewed focus to our efforts to diversify the museum's collection, programs, staff, vendors, audience—and even our field. We continued to carry out a host of new initiatives in order to make the CMA an ever more equitable and inclusive place to work as well as to visit. Museums anchor the communities that they serve, and we are committed to providing a safe space in which all our neighbors may see themselves, heal, and find peace.

The success of the Cleveland Museum of Art has always depended above all on the support from our friends and neighbors throughout northeast Ohio. None of these accomplishments would have been possible without the vision and dedication of our trustees, talented staff, or you—our supporters—to whom we cannot adequately convey our heartfelt thanks. We are grateful to you for being a part of both the CMA family and our institution's bright future.

Sincerely,

Scott C. Mueller
Chair, Board of Trustees

2019–2020 HIGHLIGHTS

Medieval Monsters

JULY

The first exhibition of its kind in North America, Medieval Monsters: Terrors, Aliens, Wonders explored the complex social roles that imaginary creatures, women, and non-Europeans played in the art of the Middle Ages, featuring about 60 illuminated manuscripts from the renowned collection of the Morgan Library & Museum.

An interactive performance created by artist Lee Mingwei, Sonic Blossom offered the gift of song to visitors in the galleries.

AUGUST

Àmà: The Gathering Place, a monumental, multifaceted, site-specific commission by Nigerian artist Emeka Ogboh, was installed in the Ames Family Atrium.

Ogboh and Àmà

SEPTEMBER

The exhibition Michelangelo: Mind of the Master included masterpieces formerly in the collection of Queen Christina of Sweden (1626–1689), on loan from the Teylers Museum (Haarlem, The Netherlands), many of which had never been seen in the US. The exhibition was accompanied by a richly illustrated catalogue.

The Cleveland Museum of Art's Board of Trustees elected Scott C. Mueller as the new board chair at its September meeting.

The CMA and Case Western Reserve University dedicated the East Bell Commons—a new, inviting space designed with walking paths, lighting, seating, and a plaza for socializing, in addition to staging areas for events and public programs.

Michelangelo

OCTOBER

In collaboration with the Museum of Contemporary Art (moCa) Cleveland and presented concurrently at both institutions, Liu Wei: Invisible Cities was the first solo US museum exhibition by this internationally renowned artist, offering an expansive view of his diverse artistic practice.

The CMA presented Tiffany in Bloom: Stained Glass Lamps of Louis Comfort Tiffany, a focus exhibition featuring 20 stained glass lamps from the recent bequest of Cleveland industrialist Charles Maurer.

Tiffany

NOVEMBER

Nadiah Rivera Fellah joined the CMA as associate curator of contemporary art.

DECEMBER

Featuring five videos, Pioneers: Part Two was the second presentation in the Video Project Room of landmark works by artists who helped define video art in the US, which emerged in the 1960s with the advent of video recording devices and steadily gained traction alongside the increased presence of television in daily life.

JANUARY

The CMA celebrated the one-year anniversary of the Open Access initiative.

Colleen Russell Criste began serving as deputy director and chief philanthropy officer.

Kristen Windmuller-Luna joined the CMA as curator of African art.

Fellah

Snowman

The CMA unveiled a life-size snowman sculpture in the Ames Family Atrium. First constructed by Swiss artists Peter Fischli (b. 1952) and David Weiss (1946–2012) in 1987, Snowman was a generous temporary loan from the Scott Mueller family, as well as a visitor favorite.

FEBRUARY

Featuring 35 photographic works, Signal Noise: Aaron Rothman opened at Transformer Station, surveying 10 years of Rothman's photographic studies of the landscape of the American West.

The special exhibition PROOF: Photography in the Era of the Contact Sheet featured approximately 180 rare photographs and contact sheets of iconic celebrities, including the Beatles and Groucho Marx, from the collection of Clevelanders Mark Schwartz + Bettina Katz.

Mark Schwartz + Bettina Katz gifted 59 important contact sheets and three related photographs from their collection. The group of 62 works includes contact sheets from famous portrait sittings by Irving Penn, a selection of contact sheets featuring Marilyn Monroe, and more.

The CMA released digital membership cards to iPhone and Android users.

Scaturro

MARCH

The CMA completed final prototypes of the “Gods” and “Journey” sections of the upcoming exhibition Revealing Krishna: Journey to Cambodia's Sacred Mountain and created a successful first prototype of an immersive HoloLens2 experience.

Collectors Joseph P. and Nancy F. Keithley made a gift and promised gift of more than 100 Impressionist, Post-Impressionist, and modern European and American paintings, drawings, and prints; Chinese and Japanese ceramics; and other works of art, including Old Master drawings and decorative arts. Ninety-seven of the works are outright gifts; another 17 are promised gifts that will enter the collection in the future. The gift is the largest to the CMA since the 1958 bequest of Leonard C. Hanna Jr.

Ise Bing: Queen of the Leica opened, along with Gold Needles: Embroidery Arts from Korea and A Graphic Revolution: Prints and Drawings in Latin America—the first to highlight the museum's collection of works on paper produced in Latin America over the past century. Bilingual labels in English and Spanish were completed for A Graphic Revolution.

The museum closed Saturday, March 14, as the world grappled with fallout from the coronavirus pandemic.

Home Is Where the Art Is

APRIL

Following an international search, Sarah Scaturro assumed her position as Eric and Jane Nord Chief Conservator.

The CMA redesigned its home page as a portal to programming aggregated under Home Is Where the Art Is. Groundbreaking digital offerings were developed and released for virtual engagement with the museum during the closure.

Lutz

MAY

Gerhard Lutz assumed the position of Robert P. Bergman Curator of Medieval Art.

The CMA released ArtLens for Slack, a tool for remote workers.

Keithleys

JUNE

The CMA reopened its building on Tuesday, June 30, after 15 weeks of closure.

The reinstatement of the Paul J. and Edith Ingalls Vignos Gallery (203A) and the Ellen and Bruce Mavec Gallery (203B) focused on the art of Britain from the 1600s to the early 1800s.

For the first time, a selection of artworks from the collection of Joseph P. and Nancy F. Keithley was on view.

ART ACQUISITIONS

In addition to the major gift of more than 100 works of art from Joseph P. and Nancy F. Keithley, and the gift of 62 photographic works from the collection of Mark Schwartz + Bettina Katz, the museum acquired many other notable works during this fiscal year. Some highlights are noted here.
