ArtLens App Tutorial and Self-Guided Tours
Download our free ArtLens App and stop by the ArtLens Wall for a brief tutorial on how to use our groundbreaking interactive way-finding app to search the collection, create and navigate your own tours, access visitor- or museum-created tours, and more.

Use the above images to find artworks by African American artists currently on view in our galleries. These works are featured in the ArtLens App tour titled African American Artists.

Thank You
The Cleveland Foundation’s Arts Mastery Initiative represents an action toward a bigger dream for equality by helping to ensure that students in every community have access to the same opportunities to succeed, including quality arts education programs. The Cleveland Museum of Art is proud to be among the institutions that deliver year-round, mastery-level arts training that allows youth to develop the qualities they need in adulthood. Thank you to the Cleveland Foundation and each arts mastery institution for participating in today’s program.

Conversation Starters from the Collection
Departs from the atrium west planter. (ages 12+)
How can artworks relate stories that enable conversations about our history, experiences, and identities to further conversations about racial equity and reconciliation in the United States? Learn about works in the museum’s collection by artists who were energized by themes central to the civil rights movement. Facilitated by Dr. Naazneen Diwan and Michelle R. Smith.
(Maximum 25 participants)

DR. NAAZNEEN DIWAN is a poet, social justice educator, and spiritual activist with a PhD in gender studies. She is currently on the brink of two exciting launches: the completion of her first poetry collection, 99 Names, and the beginning of the Muslim Writers Collective, an art activist organization based in Cleveland.

MICHELLE R. SMITH is a poet, educator, blogger, and cultural facilitator living and working in Twinsburg, OH. She is the author of the poetry volume Ariel in Black and the forthcoming The Vagina Analogues. She is also the creator and co-producer of Blax Museum: A Tribute to Art & Excellence.
